

Need fundraising support?

You're not alone.

Gone are the days of pots of unrestricted funds for charities. Now, the landscape is becoming increasingly competitive and complicated - it's easy to get lost in the jargon of social enterprises, effective altruism, strategic funding, impact investing, technical institutional bid writing - and so on.

Let me help.

As an experienced fundraising expert, I can help your organisation chart a course through the chaos, focus on the right opportunities, and stand out from the crowd.

Who are my clients?

I support non-profit organisations and social enterprises who deliver social impact through project-based initiatives.

I have experience working with a wide range of donors (CSR and institutional) and implementing agencies in West Africa, Asia, and across Europe.

My clients are all phases of development - from start-ups to established INGOs.

What are my services?

Donor mapping: I identify potential funding sources and help to demystify the funding landscape to create successful funding strategies.

Proposal writing: I coordinate with key team members to write impactful proposals with attention to technical details. I have experience with USAID, DFID, African Development Bank, and other institutional donors.

Strategy development: I build systems for tracking impact, frameworks for measuring the project's progress, and help to build project-management capacity within the team.

Molly Morrison

Morrison.Molly@gmail.com

<https://www.mollymorrisonconsulting.com/>